Squeaky lay in his bed and watched as the moonlight streamed through the window, casting playful shadows on the floor. He thought about all the wonderful things that Jesus had done for him and his friends. Jesus had given them life, love, and laughter. He had taught them to be kind to others, to forgive their enemies, and to love God with all their hearts. Squeaky knew that Jesus was the most important part of his life, and he wanted to celebrate His birthday in a very special way.

Suddenly, Squeaky had an idea! He would throw a birthday party for Jesus! He jumped out of bed and scurried around, gathering all of his friends—a rabbit named Hoppy, a squirrel named Nutkin, a bird named Birdy, and a fox named Sly. Together, they planned the most wonderful birthday party that they could imagine.

The next morning, the friends set to work decorating the den. They hung colorful streamers and balloons, and they made a big sign that said "Happy Birthday, Jesus!" They set out a table with all of Jesus' favorite foods, and they even made a special birthday cake.

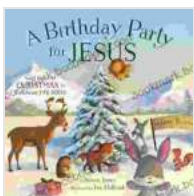

When everything was ready, the friends sat down to eat and celebrate. They sang songs and told stories, and they laughed and played games. Jesus was so happy to be with His friends, and He was so grateful for all of the love and kindness that they showed Him.

As the party came to an end, Jesus thanked His friends for the wonderful celebration. He told them that He loved them very much, and He promised to be with them always. The friends were so happy to hear Jesus' words, and they knew that they would cherish the memories of this special day forever.
